Dear Naval Academy press team,

My name is Ian Shapira and I'm a staff writer at The Washington Post. We were emailing back and forth last month about the enrollment of female students at the academy.

I'm now writing because I was hoping to get the number of students who enrolled in August at the start of the academic year for the Naval Academy for this current academic year and the previous four academic years.

My cell is (b) (6). I can talk more on the phone if you'd like or if you have more questions. But at the moment I am just trying to get a sense of the enrollment figures for the last five years at the service academies and other military colleges.

I was hoping to get the numbers by the end of tomorrow.

Most sincerely,
Ian

IAW NCAA requirements we request for USNA provide its policies for its licensing, marketing, sponsorship, advertising and other commercial agreements that may involve the use of a student-athlete's name, image or likeness

USNA:

This is a request for information for the public by a news media organization. We plan to publish this information today. Deadline is as soon as possible.

A. OPNAV requires USNA to comply with NCAA rules and regulations and to participate at the Division I competition level. USNA is a member of the NCAA

B. NCAA Div I Manual (Effective 1 August - Article 2 D) states:

All members of the NCAA must (adopted 1/20/22 and effective 8/1/22):

"Maintain written policies for its licensing, marketing, sponsorship, advertising and other commercial agreements that may involve the use of a student-athlete's name, image or likeness. Each institution shall provide such policies to student-athletes and make those policies publicly available. (Adopted: 1/20/22 effective 8/1/22)" (emphasis added)

1. Request you immediately provide the USNA written policies for USNA's "licensing, marketing, sponsorship, advertising and other commercial agreements that may involve the use of a student-athlete's name, image or likeness" as required by the NCAA.

If they are not going to be provided today, please let us know when they will be provided.

The NCAA requirement is for the institution itself - USNA - to maintain them and provide them.
USNA is required by OPNAV to comply with NCAA rules - not the NAAA.

Our request is for USNA to comply with NCAA rules and provide the written policies to the public.

Please let us know if USNA does not maintain the written policies and is not going to provide them immediately.

Sir: DoD does not allow student athletes at the service academies to use their name, image, and likeness because they consider students to also be employees, and it would be use of public office for private gain. Therefore, the Naval Academy does not have the policies.

Hi Mike,

I've returned from training and Elizabeth is on leave, so we're switching your project back to me. I heard your interviews went well. Looking forward to the story.

According to the occupancy records, Capt. Edward Kristensen moved into 45 Rodgers Rd in 1987. The next occupant is listed as having moved in in 1990, so that would make his occupancy dates 1987-1990.

Erik was born in 1972, which would put him at roughly 15 years old at the time they moved into 45 Rodgers.

Good afternoon

My name is Brian Jeffries working with the Capital Gazette.

The Naming Commision recently released its report indicating what buildings and roads were being recommended for change at the Naval Academy and at West Point.

Does the academy have a comment on the latest report?

Also, what is the memorialization process for the campus currently?

Hi Brian,

You can attribute the statement below to U.S. Naval Academy Public Affairs Officer Commander Alana Garas.

The U.S. Naval Academy is aware of the findings in Part II of the final report released yesterday by the Naming Commission to rename Maury Hall, Buchanan House, and Buchanan Road. USNA is reviewing the matter for further action per the Commission's recommendations.

For your memorialization process question, I'll have to get back to you. What's your deadline for that one?

Donna,

I had to go on leave and didn't realize that I hadn't responded to your email until I saw you had already published (no suspense was indicated in your email).

Please see responses to your questions, below.

Regards, Alana

Q: Does the USNA lease the land from NSA Annapolis for the golf course or does the golf course and land belong to the USNA?

A: The land is owned by the Department of the Navy and is leased to the Naval Academy Golf Association, a 501(c)(7) organization.

Q. There's no such constitution posted for the Naval Academy Golf Association(NAGA). Does the Superintendent of the USNA have oversight on the NAGA?

A: The Superintendent has no direct relationship with the Naval Academy Golf Association.

AETC Public Affairs,

Thank you for taking my call this afternoon. Please see the below request from Fox and Friends for a follow-up interview on the morning of Sept. 5. with sisters Lt. Hanna Born, currently training with the 23FTS, and her sister, USNA Midshipman Heather Born. It is time-sensitive.

Your primary Fox contact is Bridget Gleason: Bridget.gleason@FOX.COM | Cell: (b) (6).

You will need to coordinate separately with the Naval Academy in confirming arrangements for Midshipman Heather Born. Please reach out to Maddie Flayler at (b) (6) or via e-mail at (b) (6)@usna.edu (also cc'd). Naval District Washington should also be in the loop - contact (b) (6)@navy.mil and/or (b) (6)@navy.mil.

Background context:

Last year, for the 20th anniversary of 9/11, JBAB PA coordinated an interview with sisters Lt. Hanna Born and Midshipman Heather Born, both of whom were in the Pentagon daycare center on 9/11 and later chose to serve in the military. Their family got a relatively happy ending after 9/11, and their stories are compelling.

I'm also attaching our AAR round-up of media coverage of the Born family from that media blitz - the Born sisters' parents were both active-duty in D.C. that day.

Please get in touch any time if you need more information.

Hi Anastazia,

I hope you're doing well. We had Lt. Hanna Born and her sister Heather Born on our show last year for our "Fox & Friends" 9/11 coverage so they could share their story, and we would like to see if they could join us back on the show this year to share their story again and to honor the fallen. We sent a camera crew to their house last year and can do the same this year, or if they're at another location we can send a camera crew to where they are this year.

Can you please let me know if they can both join us on the show on Monday, September 5th anytime between 6am-9am/EST to start our coverage that week leading up to 9/11? We're going to be doing segments the whole week leading up to 9/11.

Thank you for checking,

Bridget

Dear Colleen Krueger,

I hope this email finds you well.

I am Yadimir Crespo, an investigative reporter from Dominican Republic, who works for the oldest and most important newspaper in the country, Listin Diario.

I am following up on an email I sent on June 13th. We asked for an interview to Karolina or Carolina Batista (not sure how to write her name, sorry) who became the first Dominican woman in history who graduated from the United States Naval Academy.

If it is possible, the interview could be either in English or in Spanish in any platform of your choice.

Many thanks for reading this email. I am looking forward to hearing back from you soon.

Hello,

Hope this finds you well! I am a journalist writing for Vanity Fair about Matt Gaetz's upcoming appearance at Academy Nights in Florida--the first one is tomorrow night at Niceville High School--in which he will speak to students interested in applying to Service Academies. There has been some public outcry, as Gaetz is currently under federal investigation for allegedly having a relationship with a 17-year-old, and yet, schools are allowing him to come and speak to teenagers.

Please let me know if USNA has any comments on the matter. My deadline is end of day.

Thanks so much!

PBS Kids - Casting Female Engineers

PBS Kids and Lucky Dog Films are casting kids and adults for the first season of their new web series "What can you Become?". The web video series focuses on genuine and fun conversations between real kids (ages 4-6) and professional adults that show kids some of the possibilities of what they can become when they grow up. The goal of the program is to provide evidence-based educational resources that help teachers, caregivers and parents build early science and literacy skills for America's children, especially those from low income backgrounds.

The producer of the series is looking for a volunteer for an episode that will feature a Green Energy Engineer or STEM professional. If you are interested in this opportunity, send an email to the Coordinating Producer, Alexandra Czaplicki, at RomentaProductions@gmail.com. Alexandra will then reach out to you, and, if chosen by PBS, you would be involved in a half day of filming in late September on a day/time that works for you.

Hello Annapolis press office:

I would appreciate confirmation that Hung Cao received his B.A. from the Academy in 1996, a statistic I gleaned from Ballotpedia. Mr. Cao, a Vietnamese-American immigrant with an admirable life story, retired from the Navy --- last year I believe, as a Captain. He is currently running as the Republican candidate for the U.S. Congress in Virginia's 10th congressional district.

(As this is the first time I've contacted your press office, and to reassure yourself that there is a real journalist on this end of the line, you might want to glance at my online journal, the Rushford Report, www.rushfordreport.com. I recently published an article --- Letter from Rappahannock --- that reported on Capt. Cao's campaign stances. And if you scroll back to late last year, I published an article on so-called Chinese wolf-warrior diplomacy that also would be of interest to those who follow Chinese maritime activities in the South China Sea and elsewhere.)

I was one of the handful of journalists who started reporting on South China Sea issues back in 1995, for my own publication, and also the Wall Street Journal and Reader's Digest. My interest was sparked by an article in Proceedings. I've been a USNI member ever since.

Best regards,

Greg Rushford

Hello Maddie

Thank you very much for getting back to me. It would be an honor to achieve either. My book "Breathe" is more than a survival story It takes the reader through my life from a young boy who wanted to be a Navy Diver to eventually becoming the most Senior Master Diver in the Navy.

The book teaches the readers many life lessons I learned and leadership traits that would embody any young leader in todays military.

I had an amazing career and I am very proud of what I accomplished so getting the opportunity to speak to our future leaders would be an amazing opportunity.

If the midshipmen store would like to host my book the Publisher is Crossroads Publishing

About 18 months ago I endured a massive shark attack by a 12' Bull Shark and it prompted me to write a book. The story was featured on Discovery Channel Shark Week in July. The first and last chapters are my attack and my survival but the other 21 chapters take the readers through my career as a Navy Diver and becoming the youngest Master Diver.

I actually wrote the book for my children and in doing so used very little cussing, no drinking, no sex and most of all no BS. The book is very action packed and teaches the reader several leadership traits that I think will be perfect for young readers.

Here is the book proposal prior to publishing but book is published now through Crossroads Press and is available on every platform in the world. It gives you a very good idea of the reading material and even several sample chapters.

I have been asked to speak to Penn State and the Captain suggested I reach out to you at the Naval Academy.

Ms. (b) (6)

Good morning and thank you for your email. I had a wonderful summer break and hope you enjoyed your summer as well.

Please excuse the delay in responding as I returned from 3 weeks NOLS in Alaska on Thursday afternoon and then spent the next few days performing military duties (reform briefs, moving rooms) and preparing for the start of classes yesterday morning.

I appreciate your kind note. Hanna and I really enjoyed participating in last year's 20th anniversary commemorative event. I like her will be happy to participate in this year's "one year later" remembrance also.

Regarding date, I can make myself available and depending upon what time frame is selected I will need a little time to process an excusal slip if it overlaps with one or more morning class(es). However, I think I can accommodate my schedule much easier than Hanna since she is one hour difference in time (CST) and has to drive 20-30 minutes to an airfield.

As you suggest, the request will have to be processed through the Academy's PA just like last year. Regarding location, last year CBS shot a scene from the top of Hopper Hall (new cyber center) which overlooks the water and some of the athletic fields which I thought worked out nicely (however, I will defer location to PA depending upon the final format (and time) of the interview (as if too early may be too dark to see anything). Weather also may be a consideration.

Thank you again for reaching out and I look forward to working with you once again this year.

Very Respectfully,

Hi Sarah!

I was advised by Christine Harding at the National Cryptologic Foundation that the Naval Academy Museum may be able to assist us in finding a filming location for an interview we are conducting on October 11, 2022. This video is part of an educational series for K-8 students and explores different careers across the span of nearly every industry -- trades, communications, arts and entertainment, healthcare, tech, public service...really anything you might think of.

We are interviewing Chief Sara Santos about her career as a Cryptologist and she has been given permission by her Master Chief to film and travel for the project. Christine has suggested using the Enigma exhibit as a possible backdrop, but we are open to suggestions.

Below you'll find the link and password to the pilot for the series for your review and I've attached a document further describing the project and our client, Big Ideas Learning. Please let me know if you have any questions or if you think this might be a feasible filming location. We would need about 5 hours to set up, interview, and tear down/clean up our equipment.

Thanks for reaching out about this. I think, actually, we're all set. The story's a little shorter than when I'd first reached out, and I don't want to take up Tracie's time unnecessarily.

If that changes over the course of today, though, I'll let you know.

Hi (b) (6),

I'm a journalist working on an article for Smithsonian Magazine about the early U.S. patent records that were lost in a fire in 1836. I've been talking with historian Adam Bisno at the Patent and Trademark Office and he's kept me in the loop about the work to authenticate the Fulton patents that are at the USNA Museum.

We're finishing up the story, which highlights the Fulton patents, and I wanted to see if you had a few minutes to talk just so I can check a couple details to be sure they're correct.

Thanks for your time,

Hello,

Hope this finds you well! I am a journalist writing for Vanity Fair about Matt Gaetz's upcoming appearance at Academy Nights in Florida--the first one is tomorrow night at Niceville High School--in which he will speak to students interested in applying to Service Academies. There has been some public outcry, as Gaetz is currently under federal investigation for allegedly having a relationship with a 17-year-old, and yet, schools are allowing him to come and speak to teenagers.

Please let me know if USNA has any comments on the matter. My deadline is end of day.

Thanks so much!

Hi Thomas: USNA saw a 20.5% application drop for the recently reported Class of 2026. Due to our unique mission, the Naval Academy relies heavily on in-person outreach, whether hosting potential candidates at the Naval Academy or our many in-person outreach events across the nation. This in-person outreach was significantly restricted during the height of the pandemic (we held our summer programs - key to our recruiting - virtually last year) and played a major role in the application reduction. Over this past year, we've been able to resume the vast majority of our in-person outreach, and applications for next year's class are nearing pre-pandemic levels.

Thanks for reaching out, and don't forget to circle back on the next set of applications and the "Maverick Effect." Have a good weekend.

Very respectfully,

Greetings,

My name is Christopher Miller, and I am writing a postcard-style book about the Academy. I am a retired US Navy Lieutenant and currently live in Portsmouth, Virginia. The book is in process with a scheduled publication date in 2023. The publisher is Arcadia Press. Essentially, the book is a collection of historical photographs with captions that provide a history of the Academy and the Yard.

I have written two previous books in this style, one on Norfolk Naval Shipyard and the other on the Coast Guard in Hampton Roads, Virginia. I was inspired to write this book because I taught at USNA for three years, from 2007 to 2010.

My research resources include the Nimitz Library, the National Archives, the Navy History and Heritage Command, and the Library of Congress.

I would say that I am 50% complete with the book, but I plan on making at least one trip up to Annapolis this year.

Hi Steve: Thank you for thinking of the Naval Academy. Our SEAL Program Manager is not available for an interview, so I hope the following information will assist you.

The U.S. Naval Academy (USNA) SEAL program manages a variety of special program and events designed to rigorously assess, select, and train men and women who embody the courage, integrity, humility, creativity, team-ability, creativity, and grit that expand Naval Special Warfare's (NSW) competitive edge to remain the Nation's preeminent maritime special operations force."

For example, USNA SEAL candidates participate in a 48-hour SEAL screener that mimics two days of Basic Underwater Demolition / SEAL (BUD/S) training. The top 60 candidates from the screener are then selected to attend SEAL Officer Assessment and Selection (SOAS) on Naval Amphibious Base Coronado, California, the final step in earning a spot to attend BUD/S. The SOAS finishers have their candidate packages briefed to a SEAL Officer Selection Panel, consisting of SEAL captains, commanders, and Master Chiefs who select the most qualified candidates to attend BUD/S.

The Naval Academy also has several other training events that offer exposure to the NSW community throughout the academic year and summer training, to include the SEAL Professional Training Event, a three-week summer training block where Midshipmen third class are assigned to Naval Special Warfare Group 2 in Little Creek, Virginia. Throughout the academic year, the USNA SEAL program organizes professional development briefs with SEALs stationed in the National Capital.

Heather,

Apologies for responding late, but please see responses to your questions, below.

What percentage of midshipmen are vaccinated?

99.8 percent of the midshipmen are vaccinated at the U.S. Naval Academy.

How many midshipmen have been separated for not getting vaccinated against COVID-19?

Zero midshipmen have been separated for not getting vaccinated against COVID-19.

How many midshipmen are unvaccinated but have filed a religious exemption request and cannot currently be separated?

A small number of midshipmen are seeking religious exemptions from receiving the COVID-19 vaccine in accordance with standing Navy policies.

Are there any unvaccinated midshipmen that are still waiting to be separated? If so, when will they be separated?

There are zero midshipmen awaiting to be separated for not getting vaccinated against COVID-19.

In the case of any midshipmen that were separated due to not getting vaccinated, did they have to repay their tuition?

No midshipmen were separated due to not getting vaccinated against COVID-19.

Hi Maddie,

Thank you for your response. Would you be able to tell me what courses she taught and for how many semesters she's been contracted as an adjunct professor?

Thank you,

Report Suspicious

Good morning Amanda,

Adjunct instructors at USNA are only contracted for one semester at a time. Gordana Schifanelli was last contracted as an adjunct instructor at the Naval Academy for the Fall 2021 semester.

Would I be able to get her employment with the University (whether former or current) confirmed? I'm not finding her listed on the website.

Hello,

I am writing an article for Military Times about how the potential end of affirmative action in higher education thanks to the Supreme Court will affect the military, especially the service academies. Could you please respond to the following questions?:

1. Does the U.S. Naval Academy use race as a factor in admissions?
2. If so, how exactly is race used as a factor in admissions?
3. Is there anything else you'd like to note?

I'm also happy to speak by phone. I'd appreciate a response by the end of the day Thursday. Thank you.

Respectfully,

Irene

Dear Ms. Wrightson,

I'm a Professor of Sociology at the University of California, Berkeley, and will soon be writing an article, hopefully for a major national newspaper or magazine, on the forthcoming case on affirmative action that will soon be heard by the Supreme Court. The article will include a discussion of the history of affirmative action, and I'm hoping to be able to demonstrate how this policy changed the composition of the entering classes of the United States military academies. In particular, I'm hoping that you will be able to send me the number and percent of African-Americans in the freshman classes of the Naval Academy going back as far as the early 1960s, if possible. Ideally, I would like to have year-by-year data on the racial composition of the entering freshman class for the period of 1960 through 2021. But if all those years are not available, I would appreciate your sending me whatever is available, going back to as early a date as possible.

On the off chance that anyone has ever written anything on the history of Affirmative Action on the Naval Academy, I would of course love to see it.

Thanks in advance for your kind cooperation.

Best,

Jerome Karabel

Hello Cmdr. Garas,

I'm working on a roundup of the service academies in terms of COVID-19 vaccination. I had a couple questions about the status of the mids. My deadline is 5 p.m. today.

- What percentage of midshipmen are vaccinated?
- How many midshipmen have been separated for not getting vaccinated against COVID-19?
- How many midshipmen are unvaccinated but have filed a religious exemption request and cannot currently be separated?
- Are there any unvaccinated midshipmen that are still waiting to be separated? If so, when will they be separated?
- In the case of any midshipmen that were separated due to not getting vaccinated, did they have to repay their tuition?

Thanks!

Good Morning,

I am the photo researcher for the U.S. Naval Institute. The upcoming issue of Proceedings, will be our annual submarine issue. We were wondering if midshipmen that choose submarine force might have a similar submarine selection night or something similar? And if there is, are there any photos we could use?

Thanks,

Emily
